CURRICULUM VITAE

Stephen Crabbe

Stephen Crabbe graduated with an LL.B. Honours degree in Laws from University College London in 1996. He worked as an innovation consultant for the consulting company THATI GmbH (Germany) between 1998 and 2001 specialising in the initiation and management of co-operative international research and development projects. In 2001 he started his own business and is presently Managing Director of Crabbe Consulting Ltd (UK). In the last ten years he has helped form and manage a number of research and technological development projects co-funded by the European Commission in the area of security such as: anti-personnel landmine detection, explosive detection, the surveillance of maritime borders and the detection of hidden people and unauthorised objects. He has helped initiate, organise and manage extensive international cooperation between companies and also with public institutions.
